ELC students tour MidSouth

Classes from the Early Learning Center recently visited MidSouth Community Federal Credit Union. Thirty-five students were given a tour of the lobby, vault and safe deposit boxes. Assistant store manager Cynthia Miller stressed to the students how important it is to start saving at an early age. The students were shown how to have their coins counted through a machine and then exchange their receipt for cash or deposit the money into their savings account at the teller line. At the end of their visit, the students listened to the story of Johnny Appleseed, which coincides with the Savings Account MidSouth offers to youth age 12 and under.
